VOTES FOR WOMEN FAILS BY 65,000 IN NEW JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 20.—Votes for women in New Jersey went down to a crushing defeat in yesterday's election by approximately 65,000 majority. Practically complete returns early today indicated this number, while in Essex county alone, where Newark is located, the majority against it was 14,000.

Though its foremost citizen, Woodrow Wilson, announced himself for suffrage, the cause lost in every big city and in nearly every town. The defeat was a landslide.

Suffrage leaders, however, refused to be disheartened today, and started plans to put legislative candidates on record on a promise to permit women to vote next spring for presidential electors. Following up the persistent campaigning which marked the amendment fight, the women in the next two weeks will go after every candidate.

Returns from Jersey City indicated that the amendment failed by 4,000 majority. Even President Wilson's Princeton district voted against the proposal, with a majority of 182. His own borough went more than two to one against it.

That the amendment carried only in Ocean county was indicated today. There the early returns showed 210 majority, but this may be overturned by more complete returns.

PAINT AMERICAN FLAG ON THE SHIP DIRIGO

Seattle, Oct. 20.—When the American full-rigged ship Dirigo leaves for Swedish ports tomorrow with a cargo of barley she will be the first of the north Pacific vessels to have a great American flag painted on both sides of the gray hull, as well as the name of the vessel. The flag, painted yesterday, is 20 feet long and 10 feet wide. Captain W. M. Mallett took this action as a "safety first" course against German submarines.

COAST MILLS BID ON LUMBER FOR CANAL

Tacoma, Oct. 20.—Local lumber mills are given an opportunity today to submit bids to supply 7,780,000 feet of Douglas fir for the use of the government in Panama canal work, including everything from fine kindling to the largest stock. The largest delivery is asked at Colon between January 1 and March 1, 1916. Sealed bids for the lumber wanted will be opened November 5.

INITIATE MEASURE TO STOP SUNDAY BASEBALL

Portland, Oct. 20.—A movement to place before the voters next fall an initiative measure which if adopted will do away with baseball and all other classes of commercialized amusement on Sunday, and result in the closing of every place of business that is not required by its nature to remain open on the Sabbath, is under way here today.

SEVEN PLEAD GUILTY TO MOONSHINE CONSPIRACY

MAN WHO KILLED POLICE SERGEANT CAPTURED

(By United Press Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, Oct. 20.—Harry Duncan, slayer of Police Sergeant J. H. Toolen, was captured today. He was taken at Shorb station, near El Monte.

Sheriff Cline and Deputy Sheriff Day arrested Duncan just as he was boarding a train. All stations had been closely watched. The word that Duncan, or a man answering his description, was awaiting a train at Shorb was flashed to the sheriff's office. Cline arrived just in time to seize the fugitive. Duncan arrived at the county jail at 10 a. m.

GIRLS PRESENT PRESIDENT WITH NATIVE PRODUCTS

(By United Press Leased Wire.)

Washington, Oct. 20.—Two pretty California girls who took too long to adjust their hats and powder their noses kept the president of the United States waiting 15 minutes today.

But after his wait they brought him a piece of native California gold, a bouquet of California orange blossoms and a petition asking him to go to the San Francisco exposition.

The bar of gold, presented by Dorothy Starr, she said could be fashioned into a wedding ring.

"That's a good idea," the delegation quoted the president as responding.

The orange blossoms were meant for him, and he had a chance to smell their fragrance, but Miss Esther Bull decided at the last moment to present the minstrel to Mrs. Galt, the president's fiancée.

"Excellent idea," the girls quoted the president as responding. Accompanying the two 18-year-old girls who delayed the procession were Mrs. Gaillard Stoney, chaperon, and Miss Altha McQueen. The president had arranged to meet them at 10 o'clock. He waited in his private office while a long list of engagements was held in abeyance.

"Why are you late?" asked "Pat" McKenna, doorkeeper for the president.

"Well, it was this hat for one thing," stammered Miss Bull in confusion. Miss McQueen, whose part was to recite some reasons why President Wilson should go to California for his honeymoon, was warmly greeted by the president.

Smilingly, the president answered: "There has never been a time when I have not wished to go to California. It is merely a question of finding time to go."

Maeterlinck on Medicine.

M. Maeterlinck might almost be described as a poet in spite of himself. Had the desire of his heart been attained, he would have been a doctor. Some years ago he confessed to his early ambitions in a letter addressed to a French medical journal. "I never commenced the study of medicine," he wrote. "I did my duty in conforming with the family tradition which ordains that the eldest son shall be an avocet. I shall regret to my last day that I obeyed those traditions and consecrated my most precious years to the vainest of sciences. All my instincts, all my inclinations, attached me to the study of medicine, which I am more than ever convinced is the most beautiful key which gives access to the great realities of life."—London Spectator

Youthful Genius.

Pascal wrote treatises on acoustics at twelve, at which age he was busily occupied in constructing elaborate circulating machines, and at sixteen he published his treatise on "Conic Sections," which Descartes refused to believe was not the work of a great master. John Stuart Mill was studying Greek at three, had practically mastered the language at seven and a year later was acting as schoolmaster to his younger brothers and sisters. John Ruskin actually produced a manuscript work in three volumes before he reached his seventh birthday.

Goldfish.

It may not be generally known that there is cruelty in the keeping of goldfish. Half of such captives die from sheer want of rest. As fish have eyes so formed that they cannot endure the light, in a glass vessel they are in an entirely wrong place, as is evident from the way in which they dash about and go around and around until fairly worn out.

Worse Yet.

"Why is it nobody likes Tom?" "Oh, he's one of these 'I told you so' fellows."

"How about Bill?"

"He's worse yet. He's one of the 'I could have told you if I'd wanted to' variety."—Essex House.
